Book discussion for 2019

Where your story begins.

The Notebook by Nicholas Sparks
(January 21st)

The Story of Noah Calhoun, a rural Southerner returned from WWII. Noah is restoring a plantation home and is haunted by the girl he met years earlier, a girl he loved like no other.

Persuasion by Jane Austen
(February 25th)

Persuasion is a delightful social satire and a moving tale of lovers separated by class distinctions. After years apart, Anne Elliot, encounters the dashing officer others persuaded her to reject.

The Book Thief by Markus Zusak
(March 18th)

Trying to make sense of the horrors of World War II, Death relates the story of Liesel--a young German girl whose book-stealing and story-telling talents help sustain her family, the Jewish man they are hiding and their neighbors.

The Shack by William P. Young
(April 15th)

Mackenzie Phillips' daughter was abducted and evidence of her murder is found in an abandoned shack. Years later he receives a note, apparently from God, inviting him back to that shack.

And Then There Were None
by Agatha Christie
(May 20th)

Ten strangers, each with a dark secret, are gathered together on an isolated island by a mysterious host. One by one, they die, and before the weekend is out, there will be none.

Hillbilly Elegy by J.D. Vance
(June 17th)

Vance, a former marine and Yale Law School graduate, provides an account of growing up in a poor Rust Belt town that offers a probing look at the struggles of America's white working class.

The Poisoned City by Anna Clark
(September 16th)

Recounts the gripping story of Flint's poisoned water through the people who caused it, suffered from it, and exposed it.

The Dovekeepers by Alice Hoffman
(October 21st)

A tale inspired by the tragic first-century massacre of hundreds of Jewish people at Masada presents the stories of a hated daughter, a baker's wife, a girl disguised as a warrior, and a medicine woman who keep doves and secrets while Roman soldiers draw near.

The Recipe Box by Viola Shipman
(November 18th)

Samantha Mullins left home for city life but returns unemployed and defeated. Spending a summer baking with her mother and grandmother, she comes to understand them, one recipe at a time.

Touched by Angels
by Debbie Macomber
(December 16th)

Touching down in New York City to perform some special holiday magic, the haphazard angel team of Shirley, Goodness, and Mercy finds three special people who share Christmas dreams.
